PLEASE NOTE that the names, the titles and all text beside each Artwork of this catalog, are transcribed with the same style used by each artist in his platform personal profile (www.internationalwatercolormuseum.com).
This witnesses the multiculturalism, as well as the artistic creativity, of the large FabrianoInAcquarello community.

This year, we opened the FabrianoInAcquarello conference by reading a short text from the opening page of the encyclical letter "FRATELLI TUTTI" by Pope Francis on fraternity and social friendship.

“BE BROTHERS TO EACH OTHER, wrote Saint Francis of Assisi to all his brothers and sisters, proposing a way for them to live their lives.
Among Saint Francis of Assisi's suggestions, I would like to highlight the one where he invites us to have a love that goes beyond the barriers of geography and space.
He declares blessed the one who loves another even when he is far from him, as if he was beside him.
With few and simple words, Saint Francis explained the essence of an open fraternity, which allows us to recognize, appreciate, and love each person beyond physical proximity, regardless of where he was born or where he lives.
Pope Francis”

There are no words to fully describe this year world's situation, and there are not enough words to remember the friends we have lost. To honor the world and to remember the friends we lost, we, the artists of FabrianoInAcquarello, can only be proud witnesses of a peaceful world.
Remember our vision: Art belongs to every human being, Art is a human right, Art has no limits or barriers.
We are open to welcoming everyone, as we represent everyone in the name of Art.

Dear Artists,
be art, peace, joy; be the heritage that each FabrianoInAcquarello artist can spread to the world.

FabrianoInAcquarello from 2017 is The International Watercolor Museum

Even if it is only a statup it is the first Museum completely dedicated to contemporary international watercolor and it is located in Fabriano, Italy, the place where this pictorial technique matches up with the paper making tradition, which is the main local excellence since the thirteenth century. For over a decade this City in the Marche region hinterland has organized many international events dedicated to the world of water painting and has hosted a large number of contemporary artists and masters, who now acknowledge this territory as the potential capital of Aquarello. The Museum was thus born as a testimony to an artistic experience of international relations and aesthetic reciprocity, by applying Relational Art to events in which masters and artists share projects and experiences, apply the technique and overwhelm it, giving the painting the role of interpretative language to better connect every culture.

The Municipal Administration, together with the InArte team, who has handled the project, placed the museum in the prestigious location of the Bishop's Palace, one of the historic buildings overlooking the famous Piazza del Comune. The exhibition halls host a collection of over 750 artworks. A very interesting collection with traditional watercolor together with innovative paintings and also pictorial applications from international schools, a collection that will grow in the future thanks to new collaborations with other countries around the world. The museum aims to be the container of the works that bear witness to the art of contemporary watercolor, but also a place of activity through temporary exhibitions, many workshops, technique demostrations, conferences for the Waterpaint world, so that it might achieve the right artistic visibility and grow in technique and contamination towards a future that will hopefully be less traditional, very interesting and, finally, innovative. The Collection of the "International Watercolor Museum" is the trace road that the international contemporary watercolor artists, along with the major masters in the world, have drawn in the past years of watercolor performances in our city. Since 2006 Fabriano has welcome hundreds of artists from all continents. They first came to trace the roots of the artistic paper manufactury, then have discovered and painted the beauty of the places in the international language of Art. The "Museum" is therefore a starting point, since it is intended to be a place that can welcome future watercolorists and reap future tracks. The "Museum" is dedicated to all the masters and contemporary artists, fans, visitors - to all those who appreciate the transparency of the natural pigment traced on paper. It is unique in the world and celebrates the whole world , in the hope that painting, in its unique and international language with no barriers, will be the seed of knowledge, reciprocity and peace.

The International Watercolor Platform

The Platform is a Worldwide Watercolor Directory. A common project being developed by the contemporary watercolor community around the world. A meeting place for the international watercolor community. It is not a social network, but a working tool to organize international communication among all who play a role in the water-based art field: artists, audiences, schools, producers of art materials, masters, societies, brands, museums, galleries, curators and other related groups. The Platform, through a Personal Profile, interacts with social networks and personal websites of members to promote the artists and the other professional actors of watercolor world, by their own communication channels.

It is also a will of the International Watercolor Platform to give high visibility to watercolor events and artists across the globe. The International Watercolor Platform was born from the artistic relationships formed during the creation of the International Watercolor Museum. It is the practical culmination of the work that has brought together more than 80 watercolor communities from all over the world to meet every year at the FabrianoInAcquarello conference meeing.

Therefor the International Watercolor Platform includes organizations, associations, societies, art material manufacturers, event organizers and independent artists: they join together with no political or commercial agenda. Above all, the Platform promotes cooperation and support dedicated to the promotion of contemporary watercolor. No one group is more important than another.

The Platform protects traditional techniques while at the same time encouraging new ideas and cutting-edge technology for a new generation of artists. The focus is on cooperation and not competition, on sharing experiences and knowledge. As an international tool for communication, the Platform seeks to promote artists, events, communities, societies, and all involved in the world of watercolor.

HOW TO participate / register:

The International Watercolor Platform has a public area and a password-protected area. The public area is open to any consult and can welcome all audience. To enter password-protected areas is necessary to register by the SUBSCRIBE process and by completing the PERSONAL PROFILE with the link to personal socials, to web site, to curriculum and compiling a photo gallery. Master artists, artists, watercolor societies, schools, brands, art material manufacturers, galleries, curators, watercolor communities of any kind by SUBSCRIBE became MEMBERS of the Platform and became responsible of their Personal Profile.
